COMPETITIVE BIDS.

Janesville has before it a program of improvements for the year which is going to strain its financial capacity to the limit. The city administration has used excellent judgment and foresight in preparing for work which must be done. It has provided for the erection of a high school which will cost in the neighborhood of $500,000; it has already laid water pipe as rapidly as needed and will be able to lay more as soon as weather permits. This work, so far, has been possible through receipt of taxes, rentals and the proceeds from a bond issue. Some money will be on hand to start this year's work. An outlet sewer must be built and the street paving program carried out. With all these projects before us and with the bonding power of the city limited by the state statutes, clever handling of funds must continue.

The city never in its history needed street improvements so much as it does now. With increased business has come increased traffic. Where one automobile was used a few years ago ten are used today. Our streets are in deplorable condition. The board of public works has laid out a program for building 65 1/2 blocks of paving this year. Of this amount 54 blocks have been designated as asphalt and 11 1/2 brick. The council has taken the first step by approving the paving program.

Under that section of the state statutes which the board of public works and the council are proceeding, but two types of paving are specified. They are brick and asphalt. Without going into the merits of the material to be used, it would appear that if the officials would operate under another section of the state law which provides that at least three types of material should be specified, the city could get better prices in the bids which will be submitted by the paving material companies. Under the present method of procedure with only brick and asphalt designated and with the streets to be paved already determined, there is nothing to encourage competitive bidding. The law provides that the base for paving shall be a mixture of concrete. It is possible for the city officials to open up the paving project so that makers of other surfacing material will have an opportunity to offer estimates on material. If the board of public works would revise its plans so that concrete, creosote blocks or other surfacing material could be considered, it is safe to predict we would get better prices on asphalt and brick. As to the advisability of laying concrete or block paving, that can be determined by those who have the power to do so, after bids are received. But competitive bids would promote business principles that any business man would adopt.

Other cities have operated under the competitive bid system and have saved money on buying their materials. Beloit is one of these. Madison is another.

Argument has been made that should the council decide to change from its present preliminary procedure, delay would result. At this time the delay would not prevent the start of work as soon as the weather permits. The city engineer, already has specifications drawn for the brick and asphalt paving to be laid on the streets designated in the program. He would have to make changes which would allow consideration of concrete and any other material which might be called for. This should not take so much time that the entire program would be held up.

Looking at the proposition purely from the standpoint of the taxpayer, the council when it meets Monday night can afford to carefully consider the proposal of arranging for competitive bids.

JUSTICE, NOT MERCY.

The New Republic, that illustrious publication which makes an amount of noise out of proportion to its necessarily limited circulation among the high-brows, is much concerned naturally over the fate of our "political prisoners," which is a euphemism for virtual traitors who did everything they could to hinder our government in its prosecution of the war.

It deplores the "popular resentment" against these offenders and remarks that "the answer to the resentment is that mercy, especially when it is based on reason, honors everyone who exercises it. It is one of the prime attributes which has raised Lincoln to his place among the heroes of the world. His power to forgive, his willingness to lay aside resentments, his magnanimity at the most critical period of our national life are permanent parts of our heritage."

And then it proceeds to threaten President Wilson in these words: "He who does not feel that is indeed a petty and sour American. If he happens to hold office, if he is the legal power to grant amnesty, above all if he is one of those who trumpeted their humanity and their love of liberty, if, in spite of all, he does not for fear of criticism exercise mercy; then he is of those upon whom men ultimately pronounce a doom that, knowing the better way, they choose the worse."

Which, being translated, means that President Wilson should immediately release from prison the men who tried to stab America in the back, who were even more dangerous enemies of our country than the German soldiers who fought us openly on the battlefields of France.

The fact is, our government was extraordinarily lenient with these foes. There are countries where men guilty of such conduct would have been shot without ceremony. Talk of "mercy" in this connection is sickening. What consideration did these traitors show to their own country when it was confronted by the great

ALL THAT MATTERS.

There's no gladness like the gladness of the children at their play.
There's no sadness like the sadness of a loved one called away.
There's no richness like the richness of a home with love complete.
And no quiet like the quiet of an old familiar street—
Oh, I don't know how to say it, but the best life has to give
Isn't on the distant hill tops, but it's centered where you live.

The glory of the conquest isn't on the battlefield;
It's in keeping faith with loved ones who were sure
You'd never yield;
The thrill that is the finest doesn't come from strangers' cheers,
But from loved ones who have waited for your victory
Through the years;
And the only things that matter, when you view the world aright,
Are the laughter of the children and a happy home at night.

Strip the glitter and the jewels from the prizes that you win;
Take the time to find the meaning of the gold you gather in,
And you'll find the joy they bring you isn't in the things themselves—
Not in coins that can be counted, or in treasures kept on shelves,
But in smiles they bring to others—for their only worth is had
In the thought that you possess them just to make your loved ones glad.

So I reckon all that matters on this good old world of ours
Is the little home we're keeping, and the garden with its flowers,
It's the laughter of our children and the mother's gentle smile
That make good a thing worth getting and our victories worth while.

ast emergency in its history? The reference to Lincoln is especially invidious. The historic cases of soldier boys sleeping at their posts when overcome by fatigue have no analogy in the instances of constructive disloyalty and actual conspiracies against our government which the new republic would have made the subject of executive clemency. Lincoln's "power to forgive and willingness to lay aside resentments" were not exercised in behalf of traitors and to weaken the authority of the government.

We refuse also to recognize the slightest resemblance between our own citizens of the confederacy, engaged in what they believed to be a righteous cause, and the men of foreign birth who came to this country to plot against it in the interest of our avowed enemy. The crimes of these men call not for mercy, but for justice. And that is what they have received.

British educators and scientists are telling each other how much they would appreciate a man who would give $100,000,000 for research work there, as Mr. Rockefeller did for America, but there has been no response.

Missouri man boasts that he takes 117 newspapers and never takes a drink. Well, we know of some newspapers that might serve very well as a substitute.

Cuba has deported an American radical agitator as an undesirable alien. And the worst part of it is that we probably can't pass the buck.

A new daily newspaper in Chicago will publish no crime or scandal news, a daring undertaking in Chicago.

Now that the predicting of good things for 1920 is over, let's go to work and achieve them.

Ebert says 1920 will decide Germany's fate. But at this distance it looks as though 1918 did the deciding.

Taking Europe's Art

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

New York, Jan. 9.—The opportunity for which so many of our American millionaires have been patiently waiting has at last arrived. The battle of all wars, the most greatest art treasures, which held its own for so long a time against the steady attacks of American art collectors and collectors, is now open to people to who care to buy. One by one, or occasionally dozen by dozen, Europe is parting with its greatest treasures. The most highly prized and priced precious stones, and even its historic furniture not because it loves them less, but because it loves food and clothing more.

No one can enjoy luxury while he is hungry and so, in spite of fearful prophecies on the part of European art lovers, in spite of the ravings and threats of indignant governments, the owners of some of the most remarkable art collections abroad are sadly putting them up for auction. They have one consolation. The prices are going to be low. American collectors are from three to six times as great as those offered in 1914.

Famous Books Auctioned Off
A few weeks ago, for instance, the greatest one-day book sale ever held occurred in London when the British Museum sold its collection of the greatest private collection of books in Great Britain, and famous all over the world, was auctioned off. Before the bidding took place a New York collector appeared on the scene and offered to buy the entire collection for his American millionaire client at the price of one million dollars, but this was laughingly refused by the agent.

Nothing daunted, however, the New York collector attended the sale and secured the special books desired by his client. At this time he succeeded, although the British Museum was anxious to obtain the same books at a higher price. He paid him. For the price of $75,000 he bought a copy of the earliest edition of Shakespeare's "Venus and Adonis," printed in 1599, a little book two inches by three and bound in its original tattered vellum. He also bought for $10,000 a Caxton translation of "Duties of a Prince," published plays, and for $11,000 a first edition of "Much Ado About Nothing."

At about the same time it was learned that an American senator has just secured his twenty-third Corot in Paris for a price known to be in the six figures. The senator, who in Vienna had just offered $500,000 for a famous Austrian jewel.

Overrun with Collectors
The art treasures of Germany and Austria-Hungary, particularly, are now at the financial mercy of foreign bargain-hunters. The federal governments are turning over art collections, ostensibly from Holland and Scandinavia, but actually representing in many cases, American and English buyers. Naturally Germans do not enjoy turning over their most valuable possessions to their principal enemies of the late war, so the art treasures of the world are being sold to Americans. A collection of prints by Albert Durer, who has become one of the big speculative art "stocks," recently brought nearly one million marks at auction, and it is strongly suspected that these prints are destined for a certain private gallery on Fifth avenue.

It is now rumored with interesting persistence that the Austrian government is anxious to sell its art treasures for a large sum, at which news American dealers have at once departed for Austria to look for the most profitable art treasures, scouring the field for valuable paintings and tempting art-loving but impoverished Viennese with bright, new, war-made money.

America Is Art Ogre
"America is art ogre of the world at the present time," declared a well-known British art connoisseur the other day, in complaining of the way in which American collectors are carrying off Europe's masterpieces. "You really can't blame Americans for wanting our great works of art or for taking them when they are on the market. You can't put the price for such things when they are placed on sale, but at the same time it is most regrettable that the art treasures of the world are being sold to Americans. Really, it keeps up. It will only be a matter of time before we must go to America to see some of our finest art treasures."

A more emphatic protest was recently registered in the British parliament, when the British art collectors, but, believe me, we pay for the sale of them, but protect them!

"Happen to know," The Red Cap, one of the most important pictures of the late war, was recently asked, "Well, that picture was peddled through the streets of London only about 10 years ago by some unknown tramp, who carried it in his pocket. You really can't blame Americans for wanting our great works of art or for taking them when they are on the market. Speaking of the income tax, it looks as though it is going to be a tight race between Enrico Caruso, John McCormack and the editor of this column this year. The experts who have been at work on our books for several weeks are optimistic that McCormack will get the other two by several thousand. Those boys will have to sing a little harder, that's all.

THE PLAY.

And still the play goes on, nor ever will—

Ten years ago we fell out of a chair laughing at a burlesque comedian who chased a policeman off the stage and returned wearing his uniform. A friend dragged us to a burlesque show and we saw the same comedian in the same way with the same result. It will always be funny to us.

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and enclose a return address. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

ASK US.....
Q. What salary does Will Hays, chairman of the National Republican committee, receive?
A. The headquarters of the Republican National committee says that Mr. Hays is not paid a salary as chairman of that organization.

Q. What office did Elihu Root hold in the Roosevelt cabinet?
A. He was secretary of war and secretary of state under Roosevelt at different times.

Q. How many colors are there?
A. Strictly speaking there are but six colors—three primary colors, red, blue and yellow; and three secondary colors, orange, green and violet. Other so-called colors are formed by combinations of these six.

Q. Of all the American soldiers who went overseas, how many were actually engaged in battle?
A. Two out of every three American soldiers who fought France went to the battle fronts.

Q. What nationality is a child born in the United States of parents in the diplomatic service of another country?
A. Such a child is a citizen of the country which its parents represent. The British Embassy in Washington, for instance, has a British child and a child born there is born in Great Britain.

Q. Who holds the record for having made the greatest number of home runs in a single baseball season?
A. "Babe" Ruth, of the Boston Americans, set a new record in 1919. He ran this in the year of 1919. When Making
Investments

If you are thinking of making an investment it is well to ask three questions.

1st.—Who will have control of your money? Will they give you a square deal even when there is profit to pass around to those who risk money with them.

2nd.—Are these men in the habit of making a success of their efforts? What has been their record in other affairs?

3rd.—Is the proposition really a good one? If it is not already paying a profit, what reason have you to believe that it will do so? And don't hand over a dollar until you are entirely satisfied upon these points. It's easier to lose than to win.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: If a boy writes "mushy" letters to a girl, do you think he loses all interest in her if her answers are not written in a "mushy" way?

What is a good method for removing hair on the arms?
Will olive oil harm the eyes?
THANK YOU.

"Mushy" letters should not be written, because the writer too often regrets what he or she has said later. Write friendly letters only, and tell the young man that you want friendly letters from him or you will give up the correspondence. Do not be afraid of losing him, because if he cares for you now, your rebuke will make him care all the more.

It is unwise to remove hair from the arms, because it comes back as thick and coarse. Try bleaching the hair with peroxide of hydrogen, which will make it very much less noticeable. If, however, this is not satisfactory, try the pumice stone treatment, which has proved very beneficial in many cases.

Get an ordinary cake of pumice stone. Rub the pumice stone over the skin affected with the superfluous growth, and the pumice stone will wear the hair off. Be careful not to irritate the skin. In case the arms are made red by this treatment, use cold cream.

It is all right to use olive oil on the eyelashes, but care should be taken not to get it on the eyeball.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl in this city with my sister and brother. Am very lonesome. I love to dance, skate, and go horse-back riding. But I have not been introduced to anyone so far. I am not a flirt and will not be one.

Will you please tell me how I can do it?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a friend who is ten years younger than I am and she says she likes me very much, but she often meets my husband downtown and he takes her home in his car and does not tell me about it. Do you call that friendship? Please tell me what to do.

You have no reason to be alarmed. Doubtless your husband drives your friend home because she is your friend and appears to him so. Probably he feels that you trust him enough not to question his motive. Stop worrying about this matter because it is not enough to make you doubt your husband's love and loyalty.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of twenty years and considered beautiful. I am engaged to a young man twenty years of age. My parents died and left me a large sum of money. My relatives try to make me think he wants to marry me for my money. I don't think he does, because he is well off himself and tells me he loves me.

Will you please tell me whether to marry him or not? TROUBLED.

At the age of twenty neither of you can be sure of your love. Wait a year or two and if he still seems to love you and satisfies you, you may be reasonably sure that you will be happy together.

NEW DINNER GOWN OF NOVEL DESIGN

By ELOISE.

Most women who choose black, whatever the occasion, choose wisely. There are few people who can not wear a black gown, particularly one of tulle or satin. It is equally striking on the blonde or brunette. The young debutante always looks for the day when she may have a black evening gown so that she may look real grown-up and that her sister, who has at least one black frock in her wardrobe and that frock is usually for formal afternoon or evening wear.

Here is a very unusual dinner gown developed in black satin and tulle. The gown itself is cut on straight slender lines with an old panel effect blouse in the back to form the waist. The front of the blouse is similar to the back and there are no sleeves at all, although the arm is covered about half way down to the elbow. Oriental embroidery in brilliant blue and gold almost completely covers the gown and then the most unique touch of all is added by the addition of hip draperies of black tulle which fall to the back, and there form a train.

RECIPES FOR A DAY.
Bacon on Toast with White Sauce.—Have four slices piping hot toast arranged on platter. Put eight thin slices of bacon in hot skillet, fry quickly, keeping all fat drained off. Use two tablespoons of the hot fat to make a white sauce, with a tablespoon of flour and cup of thick milk; pour sauce over bacon arranged by twos on the toast. Bacon and eggs are too expensive to be served together, and this method makes the bacon very palatable.

Grape Fruit Salad.—Peel one grape fruit, remove all fiber and seeds from sections, arrange on two lettuce leaves, salt the grape fruit lightly, garnish with two or three nut meats and use your favorite salad dressing. Serve grape fruit a few times every day, they are inexpensive, palatable and furnish a number of substitutes necessary for a balanced diet.

Lemon Pie.—Take one cup sugar, one heaping tablespoon of flour, two egg yolks and beat together; add one cup and a half of lemon juice and one cup of water; boil until quite stiff; place in crust and cover with meringue.

Excellent Pie Crust.—Two cups flour, one cup lard, pinch salt, two teaspoons sugar, two and one-half cups of ice water, mix lard and flour with a knife, chill.

FOR THE TABLE.
Economy Cake.—One tablespoon lard or butter substitute (rounded), one cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt.
Mix well, add one egg and beat; then add one cup water, one teaspoon vanilla. Bake in one pan, two level teaspoons baking powder and add to mixture.

If batter is too thin add more flour and beat at least five minutes.
Molasses Drop Cookies.—One cup molasses, one-half cup lard or drippings, one-third cup boiling water, one teaspoon soda, salt, cinnamon and ginger to taste.
Add flour till almost stiff enough to roll out. Flatten spoonful on a greased tin, leaving room to spread. Bake in a moderate oven.

Clean wiping rags, white or colored, will bring cash at the Gazette office; 1000 lbs. wanted at once.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

To a woman whose married life is one long struggle against poverty or sickness or kindred material calamities, probably my problems would seem insignificant. For I am comfortably housed and clothed, there are no bills I cannot meet. My husband is a "good man" as the phrase goes.

Yet at this moment he is calmly examining an engineering plant a hundred miles away, after we had been estranged for a fortnight and—yes, I suppose—ready to sweep misunderstanding away and start our happiness afresh.

What a laughable situation for a woman with youth, good looks and intellect! Ah, I am not so well off as the brainless girl who lures her brainless man with rude conquests! I am less successful than the workman's wife with her man's Saturday night pay envelope. The woman who is harassed with eking out expenses, lighting croup and scarlet fever, contending with a frequently drunken husband and kindred horrors, feels herself a successful wife if she keeps her creditors off and her children alive. Her man may beat her occasionally for not being home when he arrives, hungry from his day's work.

But at least he isn't indifferent! I can see now, as I never did before, the viewpoint of the battered wife who hales her lord to the station house, yet with suddenly softened heart begs the judge to set him free. She feels poor human creature, that at least he isn't indifferent!

Better a beating and notice than interrupted Athena. "I honestly believe he let her get her hooks in him sort of to show you he could have his little affairs—oh, I don't mean there was anything serious. His anxiety to get away proves that. I think Jim is a love bungler. He means all right, but he doesn't know how to manage love. And here's a tip—of the two types, artist and Jim, the more worth while. I wonder! Anyhow, Athena means me feel better. (To be continued.)

Amy Smith stated:

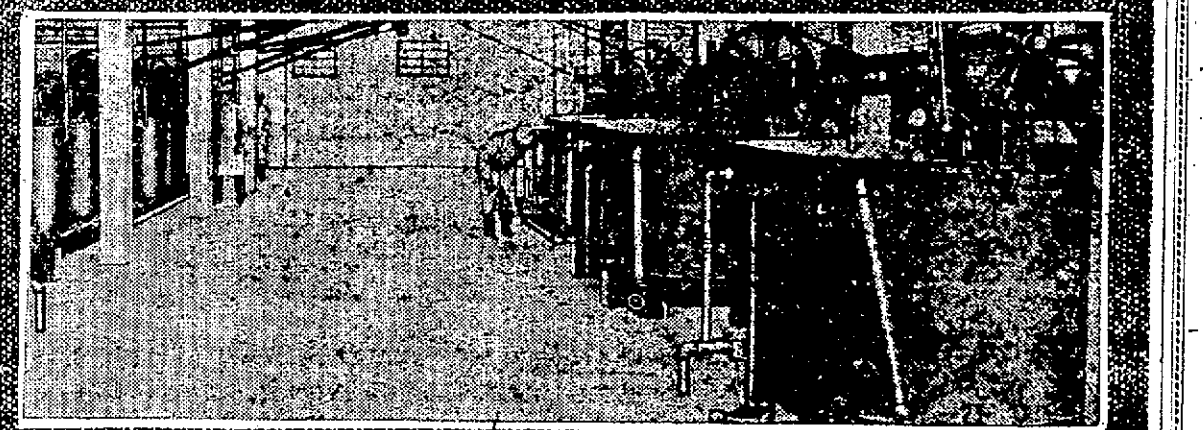

"I find Moxley's Margarine gives excellent results in cooking, having tested it on corn bread, biscuits and cakes. I have also served it for table use and think only an expert could detect it from a good grade of table-butter." Amy Smith heads the cookery department of the great woman's magazine, "Today's Housewife."

When a great Doctor, like Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, a great Chemist like Professor Schweitzer, a great jurist like Judge Hughes and a great Cookery Expert, like Amy Smith, all agree, then their decision is certainly worthy of consideration by the rest of us.

And, their statements were made before Wm. J. Moxley, the founder of the margarine industry in America, had created this new and superlatively better product called "DIXIE MARGARINE."

"Pasteurization is the most vital thing in the treatment of foods made from milk. Your family physician or health commissioner will tell you how vital it is."

According to all government and food laboratory reports, Margarine has the highest food value in the entire list of foods—including butter itself.

FOREIGNERS GO BACK TO NATIVE LANDS

(By Associated Press.)
New York (By Mail).—Nearly 1,000,000 foreign-born laborers have left the United States for Europe since the armistice was signed, and 1,000,000 more will depart as soon as passport regulations are made less strict, according to a statement issued here by the Inter-Racial Council of which General Coleman du Pont is chairman.

Tens of thousands of aliens are reported to be giving up their jobs preparatory to returning to their home lands, it was said, and many of these "as the result of racial prejudices will take back with them stories about America which will make this country less attractive to immigrants."

"The independence that has been granted the countries of Europe," it was stated, "and the fact that 30,000,000 persons, women largely, are drawing aid from their governments in the form of pensions, are factors which detract from the incentive heretofore existing for foreigners to seek their fortunes in the United States."

A nationwide educational movement among 30 nationalities in this country, having for its purpose the endeavor to "adjust the foreign born to American life," has been undertaken by the council, which has held numerous conferences with leading representatives of each race. More than 400 industrial and financial organizations of the country are said to be interested in the council, which advocates "a liberal attitude on the part of the public toward immigration" as a result of the reported unskilled labor shortage.

Men and Women Strikers Awarded Wage Increase

London (By Mail).—Success attending the strike of several thousand men and women employees of the army and navy stores, who obtained substantial increases of wages after a three-days' refusal to work, was hailed by many observers here as the first signal victory for union of "middle class" employees. There is a widespread movement in Great Britain toward the full unionization of these kinds of workers.

BABY GIRLS ARE MORE POPULAR THAN BOYS

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, (By Mail).—Orphan baby girls from six months to a year old are readily adopted. In fact there is a steady demand for such little waifs, while boy infants and children from two years old up are less often sought, according to the matrons of Chicago orphan homes and child welfare workers.

"If I could have babies made to order I could find homes for five hundred of them a year," said Frances C. Shipman of the Foundling's Home. "Many people want little ones with golden hair and blue eyes but brown eyes and hair are the favorites of others."

"Our visitors often specify that they want this or that kind of a baby," said Miss P. E. Welch, of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, "but when they see the little ones they pick the one they like the best and never think of its eyes or hair."

An explanation of the preference for little girls one matron said: "Wives usually pick the child to be adopted and they want girls so that they may be companions for them. Most women have the idea, also, that a girl is easier to bring up than a boy."

TRICK PLAY TO BE PULLED BY J. H. S. IN GAME TONIGHT

Coach Crabtree of the Janesville high school basketball team is going to pull a surprise at the game tonight when the Blues meet Delavan school for the first time at the high school gym here at 7:30 o'clock. He's got something up his sleeve.

"I've got a fake play that works," he said today.

We have heard of lots of fake plays in football, many of them only taking the side that tried them, but a "fool" in basketball is something new. There are signal combinations that cannot be called fakes. Just what Coach Crabtree has is to be seen. Evidently he has something which will show up Delavan. He's so sure of it that he has spent most of the week drilling the men in it. With more than 20 men out for practice to give the first team every opportunity to scrimmage, the school team has been whipped into excellent condition for the game.

ARCADES WIN 2 MORE; RAILS DISPLAY SPEED

Hitting the old bottles for an average of 155 per man throughout these games, the championship Arcade team continued its steady march toward the City league flag at the Arcade alleys last night by capturing two out of three games from the Blue clan. A one-point difference featured the Arcades' victory in the last round. The Blue boys took advantage of their opponents' sloveness to win by 19 pins. Paulus of the winners with a mark of 298 was caught high man.

In the other City league contest heaved last night, Siegel's slipping Colts were defeated three straight by the hard hitting Rails. As a result of this disaster, the Colts fell into a tie for sixth place with the Meisel aggregation, while the Rails moved up to fourth place. The Gazette noted of 400 which has been good for third place. Chilson carried off high honors with 191. C. league will be rolled at the Arcade alleys tonight, the Golden Eagle and Bostwick five battling the one set of drives and the Gazette and Police units hooking up in the other.

MILTON COLLEGE LOSES FOR THIRD TIME TO WHITEWATER

(By Staff Correspondent)

Milton, Jan. 8.—Milton college lost the third game of the series with Whitewater Tuesday, 29 to 28, after displaying a dashing brand of basketball in the second game. Milton's loss, like the other two defeats suffered at the hands of Whitewater, is laid directly to the fact that a cold gym here has barred practice. Whitewater opened with a startling display of teamwork that ran the score quickly to 14-5. A rally by Milton toward the end of the half resulted in holding the opponents and scoring two baskets. This spurt continued through the second half with the scoring see-sawing and Milton clearly outgiving the Normalites though unable to snatch the lead.

Babcock Stars. Babcock, Milton captain, started with eight field baskets and a free throw. Taft of Whitewater shot six fields. Palmer, heavyweight guard, was a scicker. Because of the delay in the installation of a furnace in the Milton gym, the game with Platteville Normal will be staged at Whitewater Saturday night. It will be called at 6:50 to permit the Milton team and rosters to make train connections. A special car will be chartered for the Milton followers. Milton's court is expected to be ready for play by January 20.

As You Were!

OF THE STARS AND STRIPES A. E. F.

THE GIMMYS
There are many dread diseases
That human flesh is heir to,
But upon the list of these is
Not one bug that can compare to
The gimmy.

The afflicted one conceals it
(And that makes it so much rougher)
For the healthy person feels it
While the patients never suffer.
From the gimmys.

"Gimmy a nickel."
He says, "I must phone."
"Gimmy another."
You give it and groan.
"Gimmy a smoke-er."
My supply has diminished.
If the gimmy-man gets you,
Buddy, you're finished.

If you meet a man with gimmys
The one thing to protect you
And not get into with him is
To let the boob infect you
With the gimmys.

In sending his write-up for this year's "Who's Who," says ex-Sgt. SOL, our local celebrity stuck in between the date of his graduation from Oxford and his appointment as Lieutenant-Governor, "Sergeant at thirty."

OUR CULINARY ARMY.
"Say, did you hear our hard-boiled top-kick roasting that half-baked recruit for getting stewed and going out with a broiler?"
And while admitting we salvaged the above, we are moved to add that it stumps up the situation perfectly.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE
If you want it done, get a non-com to do it, used to be an Army slogan. The truth of which was often proved. The following story shows what can be done when a non-com wants it himself.

A first lieutenant and a sergeant were in the 3rd Army Area on special duty, and having finished their work, the sergeant, who had a particular liking for the bottle, persuaded the lieutenant to take a little jump back to Paris without bothering to notify the local HQ. The officer was willing and for a week a pleasant time was had by all.

Then they reported back to their home station and met a cold reception. During their unexplained absence, their late HQ had been pouring telegrams over the wires. It looked like court-martial
